

Decision Making and Consent Protocol

Our job is to provide support in a way that makes you feel safe and comfortable.
If something makes you feel unsafe or uncomfortable, you can say no.

YOU HAVE A RIGHT:

- To understand the meaning of consent and how to withdraw consent
- To know how we can help you make decisions
- To know what happens during emergencies

You have the right to make decisions about your life.

Decision making is all about what you want.

Sometimes you might need help to make a decision.

You have the right to be respected and treated like other people.

Withdrawing consent means that you are changing your mind.

We always follow rules set by the government to make sure that you know your rights.

In the case of an emergency, or a suspected threat to yourself or others, we will share your information without your consent to Emergency Services and other agencies.

If you would like a full copy of our decision making and consent Policy, please email office@roundsquared.net.au or visit our website at <https://www.roundsquared.net.au/policies-protocols>